OUR COLORFUL BACKGROUND

The Crayon Initiative was born one night when Bryan Ware and his family went out to celebrate his 40th birthday.

As his boys sat coloring with crayons provided by the restaurant, Bryan wondered, “Where do these crayons go when all the people go home?”

Turns out, it’s the landfill—creating a big waxy mess that never biodegrades. Why, thought Bryan, couldn’t they be re-used to create more joy in the world?

He took the crayons home that night and got busy, figuring out the art of collecting and sorting old crayons, melting them down, and remanufacturing them in a bright, clean, paper-free form.

Consulting an occupational therapist, he created his new crayons’ unique design—large and three-sided, not round—so they’re easy for kids to grip and can’t roll off hospital trays. Finally, he developed a network for sending free crayons to kids in hospitals all over the country.

Since then, over 3 million great volunteers have rolled up their sleeves to help us grow—through their schools, restaurants, community groups and corporate team-building events.

OUR WORK

Millions of pounds of crayons are discarded every year across the United States.

The Crayon Initiative collects used and unwanted crayons donated from homes, restaurants, and schools across the country, then melts them down and remanufactures them, reducing environmental waste.

Best of all, the recycled crayons are distributed to child life programs at children's hospitals in all 50 states, to brighten the lives of young patients during their stay.

These programs provide countless children with a creative outlet to express themselves, while at the same time helping to ease anxiety. They also enhance problem-solving and critical thinking skills, while promoting creativity and imagination.

When the patients at our partner hospitals finally get to go home, they often take our crayons with them because they represent a happy memory during an otherwise uncertain time.

HOW TO SET UP A COLLECTION DRIVE

Starting a collection drive in your neck of the woods is a fantastic way to support your community and help kids in hospitals. It's also not a bad way to earn yourself a badge, scouts! (Hint, hint.)

First, set up collection boxes or bins at your schools, troop meeting sites, places of worship, community centers, and other local gathering places. The Crayon Initiative can send you small boxes or your troop can design their own. Just print out and apply our crayon recycling sign to the boxes and watch them fill up all year long!

To give your campaign a boost, you can download and print flyers to post around the neighborhood or to supplement your newsletters and packets. We also recommend having scouts create their own posters to spread the word about their participation in The Crayon Initiative.

Printable signs are available at the end of this document. Finally, when you're ready, ship your crayon bonanza to us!

We suggest inquiring with local businesses and organizations to see if they would also like to donate their crayons or cover your shipping costs as a sponsor.

SUGGESTED ACTIVITIES

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS What are crayons made of? What happens to crayons when people are finished using them? How long does it take for crayons and other items to decompose? What is recycling and why is it important? Can crayons be recycled? How can your old crayons help someone else? How are used crayons melted down and remanufactured into new ones? What else do you recycle at home?

TALKING POINTS Sixty tons of crayons are manufactured daily. Millions of pounds of crayons are discarded annually throughout the U.S. Wax crayons are made of petroleum, a chemical that is toxic to our environment. If we don't recycle crayons, they eventually end up in our landfills and never biodegrade. Fortunately, The Crayon Initiative can melt down old, broken crayons and transform them into new ones.

DESIGN SORTING BOXES Encourage scouts to decorate their own sorting bins/boxes – one representing each color – and fill them accordingly with collected crayons. We sort colors into red, orange, yellow, green, blue, purple, pink, white, black and “everything else.” Please note that sorting is optional (but quite helpful).

COLOR DAYS Assign a different color to each day on the calendar. Have troops create crayon art based on each day's color scheme and then place their used crayons in the appropriate box for that day.

COLOR SONGS Incorporate color-themed songs into your curriculum. You can sing or play these songs while sorting the colors. Here are links to a few examples:

CONTINUED

FUN READING MATERIAL We recommend two great picture books that appeal to younger scouts: The Day the Crayons Quit and The Day the Crayons Came Home by Drew Daywalt and Oliver Jeffers.

MATH EXERCISES Use the crayons to help introduce basic Common Core concepts such as counting, addition, subtraction and ratios.

VISIT LOCAL ESTABLISHMENTS With the help and coordination of parent volunteers, older scouts can visit local restaurants or related companies/organizations that might be willing to contribute to the troop's collections. This might also be a good way to get local sponsorship for shipping costs.

COLLECTION COMPETITION Have the scouts start their own mini-drives and see who can collect the most crayons/ donations.

VIDEO PROJECT Create a video that can be presented to younger scouts about The Crayon Initiative and what your troop's plans are for collecting. (Ideally, this would be done at the start of your campaign and used as an introduction to all troop levels. Or this can be used for the following year's campaign.)

STOP MOTION ANIMATION PROJECT Create a stop motion animation piece that depicts the life cycle of a crayon, from its use as an artistic tool to the recycling process to its rebirth as a new crayon.

DECORATE FURNITURE Purchase white, recyclable cardboard furniture from Flatgoods.com (or acquire some through a donation), then have your scouts assemble, color and decorate the items. If you have multiple pieces, consider making this activity a contest.

Cardboard, when designed properly, can be just as strong as wood. It uses far less "tree" than actual solid wood and is so lightweight that it reduces shipping costs. The furniture is easy to assemble with a few folds and will last one-to-three years before being fully recycled again. You can use the cardboard furniture at future scout meetings or auction it off as a fundraising exercise.

END-OF-THE-YEAR SORTING PARTY Once your collection campaign has ended, have the scouts organize and host a party to sort the donated crayons by color and prepare boxes for shipping. Invite the local media to cover this event and spread the news about your troop's campaign to the community.
